EPISODE THREE WILL HAVE A TRAGIC ENDING!

Padme Amidala , Anakin's wife and mother to Luke and Leia may die in this episode because she does not appear in the original trilogy. The twins are separated and all the bad guys win . It's definitely dark for a Star Wars film but a must see for any true fan!

The final installment will end so darkly the film may have trouble getting a PG rating like it's five predecessors. Film-maker Lucas however, is likely to design the film to avoid a PG-13 so pre-teens can see it without a chaperone. The film's star Hayden Christensen, says, " i think he will end on almost an apocalyptic note. I just can't imagine it not being an incredibly dark and destructive film. You've got a war, and what we know from the previous trilogy, what my character does in wiping out the entire Jedi race, and the falling apart of my relationship with Obi-Wan."

Episode III will take place a few years after the action of "Attack of the Clones". This film covers the twenty year gap before the events of the first "STAR WARS", when young farm boy Luke Skywalker meets Obi-Wan, Leia, and Han Solo and is hurled into rebellion against the Empire.

After it became a box-office phenomenon, the 1977 original film was retitled Episode IV-A New Hope to set up the two sequels and eventual three part prequel. In keeping with the title of the first film, there will be some sense of hope as the dark curtain falls on "Episode Three"

YOU DON'T WANT TO MISS THIS ONE!
